

#Openingdoors

Blog

Hill of Fearn Primary School

April 2017

Career Education: A World of Possibilities is a fantastic resource written by parents for parents in order to provide information about the new approaches to Career Education which aim to improve how children learn about the world of work. Click here to see this guidance, produced by the National Parent Forum of Scotland.

#Openingdoors was delighted to be invited to partner with Hill of Fearn Primary School as part of Tain Royal Academy's Associated Schools 'Career Management Skills' programme.

We had a fantastic time delivering our interactive 'What makes a great ELC worker' workshop.

We discussed what is meant by 'skills and attributes' and which ones relate best to the childcare sector. We also had great fun completing the 'Design A Worker' challenge where the children created a wide variety of incredible pedagogues! See below to meet 'Nanny Stick' and the other creations!

There was also a new record set for changing baby Kates nappy – 14 seconds is now the time to beat!

We are now really looking forward to meeting with the Hill of Fearn pupils, alongside other partners and associated school pupils, at the Tain Royal Academy 'Careers Extravaganza' on the 27th of April. Here we will deliver more workshops and celebrate and conclude what the pupils have gained from this career education experience.

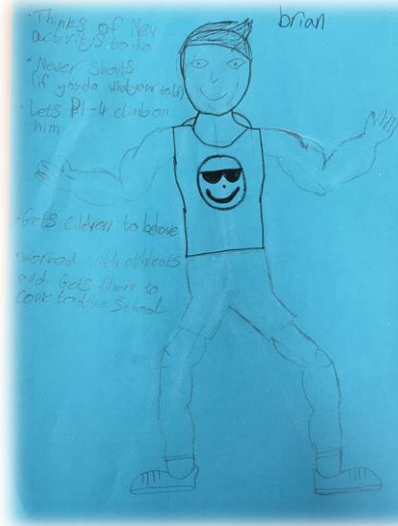

Thank you for having us Hill of Fearn Primary ☺

Brainstorming begins!

What makes a great ELC worker? Workshop.

Design your own Pedagogue challenge!

Meet Brian!

Feedback and sharing ideas.

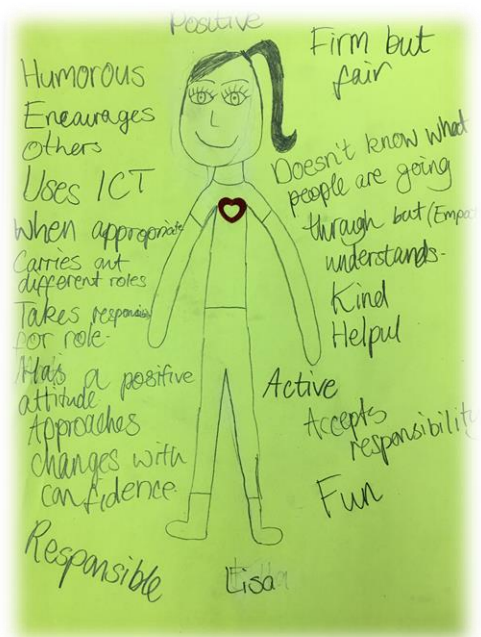

An encouraging ELC worker.

Nappy Change Challenge!

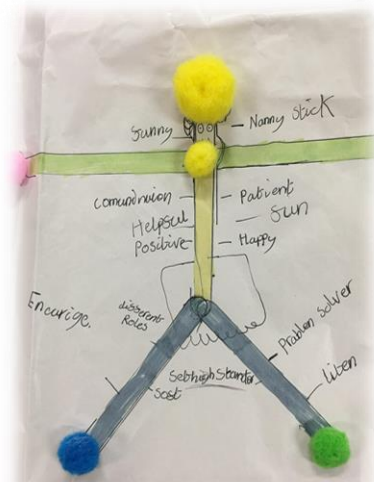

Quiz Master - Miss Smart!

A Positive childcare worker.

A 'magical' Childcare worker.

Nanny Stick!